Item – I: Confirmation of Minutes

The members considered the minutes of the 8th Meeting of IQAC held on 25th March, 2022 at 11:30 am and resolved to confirm the same.

Item – II: Action taken report

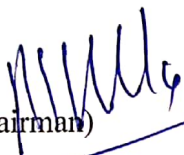

The Director informed that IQAC is yet to take up the suggestions of the 8th Meeting of IQAC held on 25th March, 2022.

Item – III: Interaction of new IQAC Members along with newly recruited faculties

As it was the first meeting of the newly constituted IQAC Committee, the meeting was organized to have a formal introduction of the new members with the Honorable Vice Chancellor, who is the Chairman of IQAC, and chalk out the future course of action of IQAC, NEHU. Newly appointed faculties in various departments were also invited to brief them about various opportunities and challenges ahead. The Chairman of IQAC, the Honorable Vice Chancellor, Prof. P. S. Shukla, welcomed the new members of the IQAC along with the new recruits who were appointed during the last six months. Honorable Vice Chancellor not only deliberated on various opportunities in relation to the National Education Policy 2020, he encouraged the new recruits to submit multidisciplinary and transdisciplinary project proposals to address local, regional, and national problems. He also urged the new recruits to get involved in innovation and entrepreneurship programs undergoing in the university under Institution Innovation Council, NEHU. The new recruits were advised to submit at least two projects each to national and international funding agencies. At the same time, the Chairman advised them to write review papers in reputed international journals while exploring research avenues with the existing infrastructure in place. The Director, IQAC, briefed the members about the various criteria in NAAC assessment application which can guide the members regarding the academic and research parameters NEHU aspires to meet in the coming years. All the new faculties were given opportunities to express their opinions and were advised to submit their idea in writing to the Director, IQAC.

One of the IQAC members informed the house that NEHU has already purchased a software, namely Kramah software, to prepare NAAC reports. The IQAC members expressed satisfaction on the development and advised the Director, IQAC call a meeting with the Vendor to understand the kind of expertise needed to get the best out of the software. The Director, IQAC was also advised to see the EXIT REPORT of the last NAAC Assessment in the year 2017 and prepare a roadmap to address those issues.

The meeting ended with the thanks from the Chair.
